ATHENS 2019

Undergraduate studies

Spanning nine (9) Schools – Theology; Law; Economics and Political Sciences; Philosophy; Sciences; Health Sciences; Education; Physical Education and Sport Science; Agricultural Development, Nutrition and Sustainability – and forty four (44) Departments belonging to the above schools, the National & Kapodistrian University of Athens (NKUA) covers a wide range of academic fields. Currently forty one (41) Departments offer undergraduate programs and the others will run the next academic year (2020-2021).

Courses are taught in Modern Greek, while seminars may be organized in English or other international languages.

Foreign language and literature departments offer all courses in the language of the program while the rest of the Departments – especially Economics, Communication and Media, Law – offer a significant number of courses in English for the Erasmus students.

In order to increase student exchange all of the departments are working towards offering at least five undergraduate courses in English.

Aiming at widening international participation, NKUA is now introducing the first undergraduate program for foreign students in English.

It's a "BA Program in the Archaeology, History and Literature of Ancient Greece" organized by the School of Philosophy. This program is designed for international, non-European citizens, and is taught exclusively in English. In order for a student to obtain a Bachelor's degree eight (8) semesters of studies are required. The tuition fees amount to six thousand euros (6.000 €) per year.

The School of Theology and the School of Economics and Political Science are in the process of preparing BA programs in English.

Postgraduate studies

The University of Athens offers a wide range of postgraduate programs, covering a variety of scientific fields.

Currently, the students may choose among one hundred ninety nine (199) postgraduate programs, which are organized:

either by a single Department of the University of Athens (departmental): one hundred and fifty three (153) programs, or as a collaboration between two or more Departments of the university (interdepartmental): thirteen (13) programs.

The university also runs twenty four (24) inter-institutional programs which are organized in collaboration with other Greek universities (such as the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, the National Technical University of Athens) and in collaboration with major research institutes (such as the Biomedical Research Academy of Athens, the Hellenic Center for Marine Research, the Greek Atomic Energy Commission).

Finally, the university organizes six (6) interstate programs in collaboration with foreign Universities (Université de Bordeaux, Université d'Angers, University of Cyprus, University of Milano-Bicocca, McGill University of Canada etc).

Aiming at extroversion and at the broadening of its prospective target groups, the NKUA has proceeded to the organization and implementation of a significant number of these postgraduate programs in languages other than the Greek: Fifteen (15) programs are taught in English and seven (7) in another international language (French, German, Spanish, Italian). The majority of them may offer courses and seminars in English or another international language.

We should also highlight the European Joint Postgraduate Programs offered, such as:

- “European Master in Classical Cultures” with 16 partner Universities
  - Westfälische Wilhelms Universität
  - Leopold-Franzens-Universität Innsbruck
  - Istanbul Üniversitesi
  - Università degli Studi di Perugia
  - Uniwersytet im. Adam Mickiewicza, Poznan
  - Universität Hamburg
  - Universität Freiburg
  - Università degli Studi di Roma Tre
  - University of Cyprus
  - Université Toulouse Le Mirail
  - Universidad La Coruña
  - Deutsches Archäologisches Institut (DAI)
  - Universidad de Valladolid
  - Università degli studi di Palermo
  - Universidad de Salamanca
  - National and Kapodistrian University of Athens
- “South European Studies” (“EUROSUD”)/Erasmus mundus Joint master degree organized in collaboration with the:
  - University of Glasgow (UoG) (coordinator),
  - Universidad Autonoma de Madrid,
  - Libera Università Internazionale degli Studi Sociali Guido Carli,
  - Aix-Marseille Université
  - University of Lisbon and
  - National and Kapodistrian University of Athens
- “Smart Telecom and Sensing Networks” (“SMARTNET”)/Erasmus mundus Joint master degree

Collaboration of the:

- ASTON University (UK)
- Institut Mines-Telecom (IMT)/Telecom SudParis (TSP) and

Directorate of Education and Research

- National and Kapodistrian University of Athens

Every year a large number of academic staff from foreign universities is invited as visiting scholars to carry out seminars/courses/lectures as part of both our undergraduate and postgraduate programs and vice versa.

Doctoral studies

The University of Athens offers PhD studies, free of charge, organized by its Departments. Moreover, the University of Athens has established Cooperation Agreements with other European Universities for the co-supervision of Ph.D. theses.

Postdoctoral Studies and Research

The NKUA fosters cooperation with scientists in order to conduct postdoctoral research in the scientific areas of each Department. Such cooperation mainly refers to providing supervision or support by a three members committee of the host Department, enabling access to scientific material and equipment or assigning specific research projects.
