

NKUA CIVIS AMBASSADORS

Grigorios Antoniou

My name is Grigorios Antoniou and I am a PhD student in Economic History at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. I find the initiative of the CIVIS InterUniversity exquisite and really promising. I hope that I will be able to share my experiences from my previous studies in three European universities, and help future students to adapt to their new environment in an easier and more efficient way. It is an honor to communicate the unifying and progressive values of CIVIS.

Eleanna Bozini

Hello, I am Eleanna and I am PhD candidate of Comparative Literature in the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. In my view CIVIS is a unique initiative due to both its research potential and its means: CIVIS offers a revolutionary platform for cross-fertilisation of research ideas, bringing together academic hubs located in nine countries! CIVIS not only stands out for its focus on cooperation, but also for forging strong ties between higher institutions and society. Since I find that the extreme challenges the world faces today put forward the urgency of academic civic engagement, I am delighted to be a part of this effort!

Klairi Gianniri

My willingness to become a CIVIS Ambassador springs from my desire to remain actively engaged within the academic world during the tough times of the pandemic, to interact with colleagues from diverse sociocultural backgrounds, to be part of the empowering CIVIS network and familiarize with its values and good practices. The positive impact of CIVIS in the future could be the formation of a Higher Education that will be based on horizontal exchange of experience and knowledge among professionals and the establishment of a multidisciplinary academic network across Europe.

Dimitrios-Stylianos Koutsoukos

From the moment I learned about the CIVIS Alliance, I was amazed by the opportunities offered by this innovative and promising initiative. CIVIS not only allows students and academics to introduce mobility to their lives, but also creates a great environment for academic cooperation and evolution, whereas supports the vision of the European unity. Besides, the Alliance will deeply impact the Higher Education of the future by cultivating the values of cooperation and respect. For these reasons, I was excited to support the CIVIS Alliance by offering my services as an Ambassador.

Alexandra Soulioti

My name is Alexandra Soulioti and I am a 3rd-year undergraduate student at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens Law School. As a young European, I feel that regardless of our roots, we must promote European values and cultures in order to become better versions of ourselves. Working as part of a team that shares knowledge and a European spirit, we can become open-minded, and see the world from multiple perspectives. This is what CIVIS as a European Civic University provides to the students of my generation. The Ambassador position offers me the privilege and the opportunity to inform others about, promote the values of, and contribute to the mission of the Alliance that sculpts the future of Education.

Katerina Tomou

My name is Katerina Tomou and I am a PhD student in the field of Pharmacognosy and Chemistry of Natural Products at the Department of Pharmacy at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens (NKUA). As a CIVIS Ambassador, I am willing to create and establish new opportunities for activities that can build bridges among students through universities, society, and science in a truly unique European interuniversity campus. I strongly believe that such a program could motivate young people to follow their dreams, be passionate, make new collaborations-friendships, while being active members of their societies.
